Marilyn DeLeon Chicago, IL Neil Armstrong

The American astronaut Neil Alden Armstrong, born in Wapakoneta, Ohio, Aug. 5, 1930, was the first person to walk on the moon. Armstrong received his pilot's license on his 16th birthday. After two years at Purdue University, he joined the navy and flew combat missions over Korea. He then returned to Purdue, obtained his aeronautical engineering degree in 1955, and became a test pilot. At Edwards Air Force base he flew the X-15 rocket plane a total of seven times. In 1962 he was selected as an astronaut. His first flight (1966) was as commander of Gemini 8. Armstrong was later assigned as commander of Apollo 11, the first U.S. attempt to land on the moon. On July 20, 1969, Armstrong and lunar-modular pilot Colonel Edwin E. "Buzz" Aldrin landed the Apollo 11 module Eagle on the moon at the Sea of Tranquility. At 10:56:20 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time (EDT), he planted his left foot on the lunar surface and proclaimed, "That's one small step for a man, one giant leap for mankind." After becoming NASA Deputy Associate Administrator for Aeronautics, Armstrong retired from NASA in 1971 to become a professor of engineering at the University of Cincinnati.

Lianne Oconer West K, NJ Our Solar System

Our solar system is the Sun and everything that is affected by the Sun's gravity. The planets, the moons that circle the planets and a variety of other objects, including comets, move the way they do because of the Sun's gravitational attraction. There are nine planets in our solar system: Mercury, Venus, Earth, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune and Pluto. Our planet Earth, is different from the other planets because of its distance from the sun. Some planets are small and some big. All the planets orbit the Sun in the same direction. Some planets have their own Moon(s), some don't have any. We call the planets that are closer to the sun, including the Earth, the inner planets because they are small rocky worlds.

EDITOR'S NOTEBOOK

Dear Archie Readers,

First, I would like to thank everyone who responded to my plea for E-mail. I'm almost sorry I said anything (just kidding). I've been overwhelmed by letters. Please accept my apology if you did not receive a response from me as yet. Eventually, I hope to answer every letter, so try to be patient.

Now on to some insight as to what's in store for all you lucky Archie fans next month:

Tis the month before Christmas,
When the weather gets chilly,
Archie fans just want to feel silly.
It's easy to do, no time for a rest.

Run down to the store for a brand new digest.

ARCHIE'S HOLIDAY FUN DIGEST #1 helps to kick off the holiday season in true Archie style. This new addition to the Archie Digest Library is definitely a collector's item. It's so funny that you'll probably cry laughing over it. This could create a soggy mess, so play it safe and buy two copies.

Next is some really big news. JUG-HEAD is about to face his greatest threat...TRULA TWIST and her J.U.S.T. cause! When Jughead finds himself being chased by some jealous boyfriends, he has reason to believe there's a conspiracy to set him up. But why? And who is this Trula Twist who keeps showing up? And what is J.U.S.T.? If you want the answers to these intriguing questions, you're not going to get them from me. Ya gotta buy the book! This exciting 3-part saga begins with JUGHEAD #89 FEB. The story is by Craig Boldman with art by the ever popular Rex Lindsey.

Before I go, here's a reminder. CHERYL BLOSSOM #3 FEB. wraps up her latest 3-part mini-series (Goes to Hollywood). But have no fear, Cheryl fans, the demand for more Cheryl has been so tremendous that we had to give her her own book. So starting in this January you can have a dose of Cheryl Blossom almost every month.

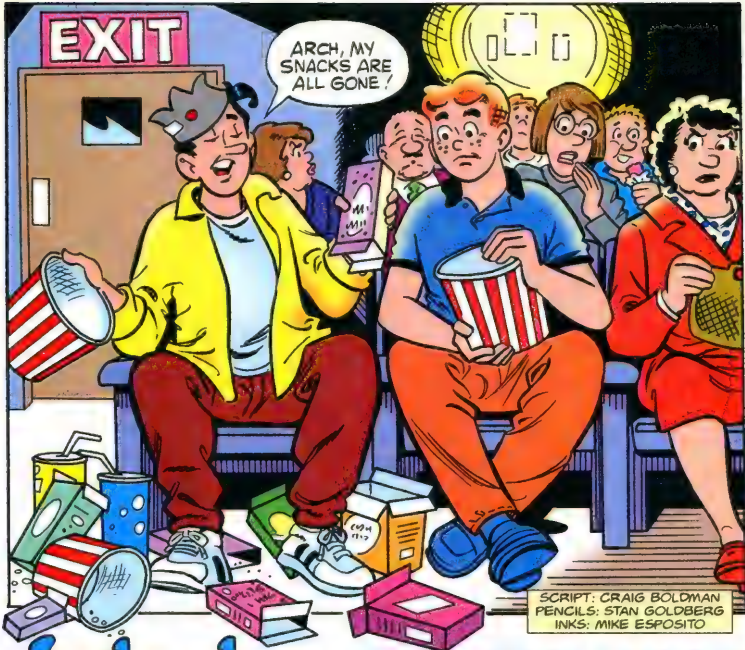

See you all next month. Til then, have a great Holiday Season!
